

Museum of the Cereal

It is located in the Arco del Alcocer, the old gate of the wall that surrounded Arévalo, specifically in what used to be the old jail, of which remains are preserved.

In several rooms, the link of the region with the cereal is shown, with an interesting route from prehistory to the present, through objects, panels with information and audiovisuals, that approach the idiosyncrasies of this area and its people; all this as a tribute to our ancestors and with a view to the sustainability of the environment, intimately linked to agricultural activity.
