

Historical Museum of the Merindades

Pieces issued, among which stand out: Late 14th-century or early 15th-century cross from a hospital in Vera Cruz, Vault keystone, with a representation of a heraldic castle from the late 13th century, and several 12th-century and 13th-century steles.

The Castle of the Velasco, symbol of the city and the power of the family that dominated these lands in the Middle Ages, was built in the XIV century by the powerful lineage of the Velasco. It was palace and defensive castle. Its inside that still keeps the remnant of the Mudejar, has being conditioned to house this museum.
