Museum of the Ways

Installed in 1964, the Museo de los Caminos collects valuable objects representative of the different paths, physical and spiritual, religious and profane, which have passed through the two-thousand-year-old city of Astorga and the most varied populations of its extensive diocese, whose origin dates back with probability to the apostolic age. This museum is part of the visit to the interior spaces of the Gaudí Palace, which combine spatial fluidity with a careful decoration that Gaudí himself supervised.
