

Poza de la Sal

Poza de la Sal lies in the north of the province of Burgos, in the area known as Balcón 'balcony' of La Bureba. It is surrounded by uneven rocky lands and limestone crests, scattered with hardy woodland that survives in even the harshest and most exposed spots.

A noteworthy feature in this setting is the Poza Diapir, one of the most spectacular geomorphologic phenomena in the entire province

Declared a historic site, Los Rojas Castle, one of Burgos' most authentic fortresses, perches on one of these inaccessible rocks. Poza de la Sal received a new lease of life thanks to the repopulation carried out by Hernán González and the reign of Alphonse VII.

The town centre is made up of two main areas ' the walled section and the district of San Place. At the heart of the town, the new square joins the old, forming a large space and meeting point.
