

Palace Condes de Miranda / of the Zuñiga and Avellaneda

Palace built at the beginning of the 16th century. It has a plateresque façade, a magnificent courtyard with a double arcade, elegant salons and a staircase of honour, gothic, mudéjar and renaissance coffered ceilings, plasterwork...

Its construction was ordered by the Third Count of Miranda, M. Francisco de Zuñiga y Avellaneda to Francisco de Colonia. It constitutes a magnificent ensemble of façade, central courtyard, staircase, halls with rich coffered ceilings and plasterwork. It is undoubtedly one of the jewels of the Spanish plateresque.
