

Church Collegiate of San Martin de Tours

Dating from the 15th century. It once had the Colegiata (Collegiate Church) status. It has pure Gothic walls enhanced by pinnacles, stained glass windows and a square tower. Its single nave has very harmonious proportions. Also noteworthy are the choir, the chapels and the altarpieces.

The atrium contains the oak image of San Martín. There is a large pointed barrel vault, 16 metres wide by 16 metres high; a choir on arches; a chapel with a ribbed groin vault; a Baroque altarpiece; Gothic paintings.
