

Church of San Esteban (Castellanos de Moriscos)

16th century building, with a single nave that is divided into two sections by diaphragm arches that support a simple wooden interior cover. The main chapel, preceded by a pointed triumphal arch, is covered with a starred rib vault.

Outside this Church of San Esteban, built in ashlar masonry, the 1568 doorway stands out, along the line of Rodrigo Gil de Hontañón, framed by two buttresses.
