The Museum shows from the processes of geological extraction to the new systems of use of this stone under construction, making it the only one of its kind because of the breadth of information it offers and above all because of the guided way of exposing the contents.

During the visit you can play with different spaces, making the visitor visit the courtyards by seeing large stone monoliths with the main commercial varieties of stone in Castilla y León, a recreation of a quarry stone and some of the main extraction tools.

In the interior not only is spoken of stone, the people of Campaspero, the stonemasons who have dedicated themselves to this hard office also have room, offering an emotional audiovisual to the visitors as a tribute to them and the limestone that is all over our geography.
