COCOLOCO AND MARIFLOR.

Cocoloco has a little bit of everything and Mariflor is as small as a cabbage.

Two characters who float in stories, who live in stories and in oral tradition. Their stories bring us aromas of traditional stories, of popular stories, of stories told a thousand times, but which also bring us the verses of García Lorca, the airs of traditional songs and the sweet poetry of riddles and tongue twisters.

And all with the smell of wet clothes and the ancestral fragrance of a washerwoman with the soul of a puppeteer who, as has always happened, talks, tells stories and sings.
