OJO GUAREÑA NATURAL MONUMENT

Located in the southern foothills of the Cantabrian Mountains, in the Burgos region of Las Merindades, this karst monument is formed by a set of cavities whose main network consists of one hundred and ten kilometers of topographical galleries, which makes it the second largest endokarst. development of the Iberian Peninsula and one of the largest in the world. Enter a unique refuge for bats and one hundred and ninety cave-dwelling species, many of them endemic, an important biodiversity reference, as well as archaeological as it has been inhabited since prehistoric times.

Explore lush forests of oaks, gall oaks and junipers that are home to birds of prey. Observe vultures, kites and Egyptian vultures in the rock formations, while in the undergrowth you find roe deer, foxes, genets and wild boars. In the shadier areas, the beech forests are home to the goshawk and marten, as well as the wild cat, and in the lower course of the river you can see otters.

This natural treasure also has a rich history, from the Paleolithic to the Middle Ages, evidenced by cave paintings in the Palomera Cave and the Ermita de San Bernabé, a chapel built in the 18th century over a prehistoric cave that preserves wall paintings and a baroque altarpiece, through which you access one of the galleries that can be visited. Explore the biodiversity and history of Ojo Guareña!

Sala Universo (cedida Sala Universo-Museo Adolfo Suarez y la Transición), Ávila

SALA UNIVERSO, CEBREROS, ÁVILA

Sala Universo is the European Space Agency (ESA) Visitor Centre in Cebreros. It is the only facility of its kind ESA has in Europe. It was built Cebreros as one of the three deep space antennas existing in the world is located there. The other two are located in New Norcia (Australia) and Malargüe (Argentina). It was inaugurated in December 2018 thanks to the collaboration between Fundación Ávila, the European Space Agency and the Ayuntamiento (City Council) of Cebreros. At the same time, a joint educational project was launched with the Museo Adolfo Suárez y la Transición, in collaboration with the Castile and León Regional Ministry of Education. Thanks to this project, every day Sala Universo is visited by people from various educational centres throughout the region. Sala Universo showcases the activities and missions that ESA has carried out during its history and the different resources it provides us with on a daily basis. It is a journey through space and our Solar System, accompanied by an entertaining explanation which uses digital resources.

Fiesta de exaltación de la patata de Tardajos, Burgos (cedida agencia Ical)

‘DÍA DE EXALTACIÓN DE LA PATATA’ IN TARDAJOS, BURGOS

This event dates back to 1995 and is among the most modern Festivals of Tourist Interest (as it was dubbed in 2025) held in Burgos. On the first Sunday in October, people gather to support and promote potatoes, a product which is deeply rooted in Tardajos. The festival begins with a talk or conference on the situation of the potato sector. Several associations and clubs from the town and the entire region take part in a gastronomic competition, preparing the most delicious potato-based stew for all those attending the festival or visiting Tardajos. The event offers traditional dishes such as potato tortillas side by side with innovative stews and other recipes, all based potato-based. The taste of potatoes is enhanced by the addition of most varied ingredients such as chorizo, octopus, cuttlefish, ribs... The whole event is enlivened by the performance of the local chorus and local dance groups, which help making it one of the most outstanding festive days in Tardajos, with deep roots in local traditions and strong popular participation.

VELA ZANETTI FOUNDATION

The Vela Zanetti Foundation is located a few metres from the Cathedral, in the Casona del Corral de Villapérez. This Foundation offers a wide selection of works from the different periods of painter José Vela Zanetti (1913-1999), as well as photographs and documents providing a more comprehensive view of his life. Most of the collection comes from the painter's own collection and that of his family, as well as donations from private collectors. At the Foundation, visitors can admire the magnificent mural 'El Gran Parnaso Español' (The Great Spanish Parnassus, ink on panel), donated by the Germán Plaza family in 1997, and most of the preserved sketches of the great mural the master painted at the UN headquarters in New York, 'La ruta hacia la Libertad' (The Road to Freedom), known as 'the Human Rights mural'.om", known as a mural of Human Rights".

Portico Santa María de las Victorias, Palencia

THE LEGEND OF THE 100 MAIDENS IN CARRIÓN DE LOS CONDES, PALENCIA

In the 8th century, during the Arab invasion led by King Muhammad al-Nasir, known as Miramamolín, Christian King Mauregato was obliged to pay the Emir of Cordoba an annual tribute consisting of one hundred Christian maidens. Four of them were from Carrión de los Condes. The inhabitants of Carrión de los Condes got tired of this injustice and therefore decided to take action. King Ramiro I led an expedition to free the maidens and abolish the tribute. The battle took place in Clavijo, near Logroño. When all seemed lost, Apostle St. James appeared on a white horse, led the Christians to victory and putting an end to the tribute. To celebrate this miracle, sculptures representing the four bulls that took part in the event were placed at the main entrance of the Romanesque church of Santa María del Camino in Carrión de los Condes. Inside the church, a 17th century painting illustrates the events, accompanied by an inscription recounting the miracle and showing the four maidens entrusting themselves to the Virgin Mary, praying that nothing will happen to them. At that moment, four brave bulls appeared and made the Moors flee on their horses, leaving the maidens free. Since then, this beautiful church has been known as Santa María de las Victorias.

‘SIERRA DE LAS QUILAMAS’, SALAMANCA

In the south-west of the province of Salamanca, following the road from Miranda del Castañar to Linares de Riofrío, we border the Sierra de Quilamas. This is an area of rugged terrain with medium-altitude peaks, notably the 1,463-metre-high Pico Cervero. It is a sparsely populated area that preserves a rugged landscape of cliffs and crags between deep valleys formed by rivers Quilamas and La Palla. Ravines here are hard to access and therefore the area play an important role as a refuge for a multitude of species. Numerous reptiles, small birds and mammals that serve as prey for predators such as foxes, weasels, genets and birds of prey (eaglets, sparrowhawks, hawks, falcons, goshawks...). Quilamas is home to one of the largest breeding colonies of black vultures in Castilla y León. Mediterranean scrub vegetation predominates, as well as oak, chestnut and holm oak forests, while riverside forests can be seen next to the watercourses.

MONASTERY OF SAN ANTONIO EL REAL, SEGOVIA

Located off the beaten track of traditional visits to Segovia, this monastery is well worth a visit. Its rich interior will surprise anyone who decides to reach it with a fifteen minutes’ walk from Plaza del Azoguejo. This recreational estate, known as ‘El Campillo’, in addition to serving as a hunting palace for Henry IV also served as a retreat from his duties. It became a Franciscan convent and later, Isabel, Henry IV’s sister, gave the complex to the Poor Clares, a cloistered order which has ensured it remains in a good state of conservation, allowing visitors to enjoy its architecture and its Mudejar coffered ceilings, of unrivalled quality and beauty. Absolutely remarkable are the façade of the church, designed by Juan Guas, its Gothic-Mudejar cloister, the Flemish altarpiece depicting the Passion of Christ as if it were a stage, as well as the coffered ceilings found throughout the different rooms. In 2020 the Poor Clares left the monastery, which was then re-opened by the ‘Camino del Asombro’ association, which launched an ambitious project aimed to preserve this gem in Segovia and make it known to all.

THE TOWN OF CARACENA, SORIA

The streets of Caracena have kept their medieval layout. In Plaza Mayor is the Rollo or pillory, in Baroque style, dating from 1738 and decorated with ornamental motifs and the image of the Virgin Mary. Nearby is the old prison and the ruins of the hospital. The village also preserves remains of the medieval walls, a Romanesque bridge over river Caracena, a Muslim watchtower and a 17th century hermitage, Nuestra Señora Del Monte. Caracena is known mostly for its two Romanesque churches and its castle: The church of San Pedro stands out above all for its beautiful porticoed gallery, as well as its capitals and corbels. The church of Santa María, more neglected, preserves almost all of its medieval structure. The extraordinary castle is of ancient origin and was rebuilt in the 15th century. It is made of masonry, has a rectangular plan and a keep. Caracena is also a good starting point for hiking and enjoying the natural beauty of the area. You can walk to Los Tolmos archaeological site, an interesting archaeological treasure from the Bronze Age.

Rodaje en San Pablo, Valladolid

VALLADOLID, THE CITY OF CREATIVITY AND CINEMA

Valladolid has been recognised by UNESCO as a Creative City, a title that highlights its commitment to culture and creativity as drivers of sustainable development. Thanks to its strong cinematic tradition, the city has positioned itself as a benchmark for cinema in Spain, attracting film shoots and events. Its historical and artistic heritage makes the city and its surroundings an ideal set for all kinds of film productions. The Valladolid Film Commission works actively to facilitate the arrival of national and international production companies, offering advice, unique locations and logistical support. This not only boosts the audiovisual industry but also opens up new opportunities for cinema-related tourism. Every autumn, Valladolid becomes a meeting point for the sector with two major events: In October, the Shooting Locations Marketplace, which connects shooting destinations with the global industry. And in November, SEMINCI, the International Film Week, which in 2025 is in its 70th year, consolidating the city as a showcase for the best auteur cinema. Valladolid lives the seventh art with passion and intensity, celebrating it in its streets and projecting it to the world.

FESTIVAL DE LA MÁSCARA IN ZAMORA

When Autumn comes, Zamora prepares for a day when it fills up with pagan characters dressed in striking costumes that are part of our identity. This 2025 marks the 14th year of the Festival de la Máscara, one the most vibrant and significant events in Zamora. This festival, with its unique fusion of folklore, history and spectacle, promises to flood the streets of the town with the ancient magic of the masquerades, which are an essential part of local traditions. The event, which will bring together more than 400 participants, has established itself as a cultural benchmark connecting the roots of Spain and Portugal. Masquerades, an ancient tradition linked to winter rituals, were an essential part of rural celebrations in north-western Spain and northern Portugal. The festival aims to keep this rich cultural heritage alive. Originally, these festivities marked the change of season and the masks represented a way of protecting communities and warding off evil spirits. This festival was created to revitalise these ancient traditions and make their symbolic and aesthetic value known to the world. Each year, folklore groups from both Spain and Portugal are invited, showing the diversity of cultural expressions through masks, costumes and characters reminiscent of mythological figures.
