

Viseu Cathedral

Its originality is the result of successive transformations since the 12th-14th centuries. The current façade dates from the mid-17th century. Inside, the Renaissance cloister, the knot vaults (16th century), the one that supports the high choir (16th century) and that of the main chapel (17th century), the gilded carving and the Gothic chair of the high choir (century XVI). In the 18th century, the upper cloister and the Canons' Balcony were built.
