

Villagonzalo reservoir

The Villagonzalo reservoir is located 27 km southeast of Salamanca. It is one of the smallest in the Duero hydrographic basin and is fed by the water of the Tormes river, which is maintained at a constant level of 100% throughout the year.

Thanks to the gentle relief of the landscape and the surroundings of the water, it is possible to practice shore fishing from almost the entire area. Fishing is also allowed and practiced here from authorized boats.
