

Soto Island Interpretation Center

Soto Island is a river area located in the riverbed of the Tormes river. A 14-hectare natural corner where you can walk, play sports, ride a bicycle, observe the fauna and flora and enjoy the outdoors with pets, as well as fishing, in its four designated stands.

It has in its interior the Interpretation Center, which houses an exhibition on the different trades to which past generations dedicated effort and subsistence, such as sandboxers, gardeners, ranchers, laundresses, millers, fishermen.

Soto Island also offers a children's area, areas with wooden tables and chairs, and a striking path where you can find giant colored pencils. In addition, trial fans have an exclusive circuit for this type of bike in a privileged location.
