Using stylized fasciculated pillars that end in pinnacles, the altarpiece is structured in three sections of five sections with a slightly curved upper cover that imitates a ribbed vault. A Renaissance tabernacle or tabernacle was added to the previous structure, reminiscent of those made by the followers of Gaspar Becerra during the last quarter of the 16th century. The pictorial tables in which passages from the cycle of the Passion of Christ are represented in the lower body, scenes from the life of the Virgin and Childhood of Jesus in the upper body, and scenes of the martyrdom of the titular saints also seem to belong to this period. San Facundo and San Primitivo, in the intermediate body, whose images are also reproduced with round sculptures in the central street.

Restored in 2021.
