

Museum of the Collegiate of San Luis

The next three rooms and the gallery attempt to recreate the atmosphere of the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries. Six canvasses with biblical themes from the sacristy are hung on the walls, all contained within a Baroque architectural framework. There are also various pictures from the Flemish school.

The Sala de los Fundadores, which is now a waiting room, includes two altarpieces belonging to the founders, Magdalena de Ulloa and Luis de Quijada. There is a tapestry displaying the coat of arms of the founders, and canvasses, some of which are from the Rubens school.
