

Museum of Zamora

Zamora Museum is divided into two sections: the Archaeology section, which takes visitors on a journey back into the history of the province, from the Palaeolithic Era to the Modern Age; and the Fine Arts collection, which includes paintings and sculptures from the 14th to the 20th centuries. It also houses important objects related to the history and development of the provincial capital.

The exhibits include a magnificent bell-shaped chest from Villanueva del Puente, the Celtiberian treasures from the fortified settlement of Arrabalde, funerary stelae, Roman ceramics and mosaics and the Visigoth treasure of Villafáfila, made up of three gold plated crosses. This is the ideal place in which to unravel the seemingly endless mysteries of the history of Zamora.

Buildings

Church of Santa Lucia: Originally Romanesque. Rebuilt in the 12th century. Today, it contains the collection of the Museo Provincial. The Depository of the Iglesia de Santa Lucía contains large pieces, such as Roman steles or architectural elements, together with other archaeological and artistic pieces and objects.

Palace of the Cordon / Palace of Puñonrostro: The Palacio del Cordón is one of the most interesting modern buildings in Zamora from the beginning of the 16th century. The façade is crowned with a cornice of scallops and ten gargoyles, framed with a Franciscan cord with the coats of arms of the counts of Puñonrostro in the upper part. It now houses the Museum of Zamora.
