

Church of the Asuncion / Santa Maria

Three-nave church built between the 15th and 17th centuries. Mostly Renaissance, with Baroque elements. The interior is Gothic. The main altarpiece, dating from the 16th century, is made of walnut wood and summarises the life of Christ.

There is also the Museo Parroquial, containing important board paintings of the 15th century, sculptures of the 17th and 18th centuries and interesting Romanesque capitals from the disappeared Monasterio de San Pedro de Gumiel.
