

Church of San Esteban

Romanesque church dating from 1188. It was reformed in various styles after the fire that destroyed the apse in the 18th century.

The church has a single nave with a round barrel vault, zigzagging columns, and capitals with harpies, centaurs and vegetal motifs. The tympanum of the front contains an interesting Pantocrator, with the Tetramorph and two prophets. The archivolt contains the twenty-four old men of the Apocalypse holding musical instruments, plus scenes of the childhood of Christ and acanthus leaves.
