

Church Collegiate of San Miguel

Three-nave church. Pointed naves separated by pillars, with ribbed vaults. A graceful tower by Juan Escalante and Gaspar de Solorzano.

Built as a collegiate church by the Duke of Lerma in 1608, when the former collegiate church of Husillos was transferred to this town. It preserves the sepulchres of the Herrera and Anaya families. Part of its artistic value is due to the contributions of great artists such as Felipe Vigarny, Esteban Jordán, Vasco de la Zarza or Diego de Basoco.
