

Posada del Indiano

Posada Real *****

It was a house that was built by former Spanish emigrants in 1916 and has since been fully restored to become the actual posada.

Upon entering the inn, one is taken back in time to 1900, whilst maintaining all the comforts of modern life. It is built on two floors and contains a lounge with a fireplace, as well as a bar which is an exact replica of that of the Sociedad Filantrópica Hijos de Cidones in Argentina. The Posada del Indiano stands in 2,000 m2 of landscaped grounds featuring a terrace covered with a large wrought iron cupola.
