Posada Real ****

A former carters' house dating from the 18th century, belonging to the association founded by the Catholic Monarchs, known as 'Cabaña Real de Carreteros'. Its original structure has been respected, and it has been adapted to its new occupancy. The house is located in a typical pine village called Casarejos, in the river Lobos Canyon.

On the first floor, and around an interior balcony, eight rooms and an old pine kitchen have been arranged. On the second floor are another six rooms. All of these are furnished with pine furniture typical of the district.
