

Ulaca

It is placed on a granite promontory; it was a very important stronghold for the Vettones during the Roman conquest.

Of irregular floor, it had a powerful defensive system formed by a wall of almost three kilometres made of granite blocks. There were until four hundred houses and, near them, there were natural sources that supplied water.

One of the most important testimonies of this site are the zoomorphic figures, called verracos, which were found in the vicinity that nowadays are one opposite to the church of Solosancho and the other in front of the Villaviciosa Castle.

Historical Data

Architecture: Archaeology site

Construction: Neolithic fortified settlement

Historical Period: Celt (Vetton)

Address

Solosancho. 5130 Ávila.

Telephone: 920 291 001 (AYTO)

Website: <https://www.jcyl.es/jcyl/patrimoniocultural/GuiaLugaresArqueologicos/avila/09avila/index.html>

More information

Tourist Office Regional of Ávila

Address:

Casa de las Carnicerías. C/ San Segundo, 17. Ávila. 5001 Ávila.

Telephone: 920 211 387

Fax: 920 253 717

Email: oficinadeturismodeavila@jcyl.es

Town Hall of Solosancho

Address:

Municipality of Solosancho. Ávila.

Telephone: 920 291 001

Fax: 920 293 451

Email: solsancho@diputacionavila.es

Website: <http://www.aytosolosancho.es/>

Timetables and Prices

Tickets Free

This website shall not be responsible for the accuracy of this data