

Antonio de Ulloa boat

This boat is based on the Castilla Canal basin, at the end of the Campos branch in Medina de Rioseco. There are two routes, one lasting an hour and the other two and a half hours, which takes visitors as far as the seventh lock on this stretch of the canal.

The boat is powered by electricity to further reconcile tourist activity with the care and protection of nature. It can carry up to 52 passengers and the facilities make it suitable for use during both the summer and winter months.
